

▶ Joel Gluck, MEd, RDT/BCT, RLP

Executive Coach

Joel is an executive coach and leadership trainer with 25 years of experience. He has trained and coached clients on six continents at companies from the Fortune 50 to non-profits, as well as through his work with the executive education programs of Harvard Business School, Columbia, the Kellogg School of Management, Duke, and other institutions of higher education.

As a senior affiliate of a successful executive training and coaching firm since 1994, Joel has been instrumental in the formation of the company's core philosophies and approach to behavioral change as a program designer, leadership trainer, and executive coach.

Prior to his work in executive coaching, Joel was the sole proprietor of a successful software consulting firm. He also worked on the trading desks of several of Wall Street's most prominent investment banks.

Joel's coaching helps leaders to:

- Improve their executive presence
- Communicate with clarity, warmth, and passion to tell a compelling story with maximum impact.
- Shift ineffective behavior
- Build confidence
- Improve individual and team relationships
- Navigate difficult conversations
- Achieve emotional stability and work-life balance

Education and Relevant work experience:

- MEd in Education from Lesley University
- Graduated from Columbia University with a degree in Literature and Writing, magna cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa
- Extensive background in psychology and human behavior
- Conservatory-trained theater artist, Joel has directed and performed in professional productions throughout North America
- Practitioner and teacher of meditation
- Has worked internationally with challenging populations including prison inmates, traumatized survivors of disaster, and individuals with severe personality disorders
- Has served as coach and leadership trainer for organizations including American Express, Bain Capital, Booz Allen, Boston Consulting Group, Bristol-Myers Squibb, Deloitte & Touche, the Federal Reserve, Mobil Oil, General Electric, The Hearst Corporation, Merrill Lynch, Praxair, Prudential, Société Générale, UBS